Please sign that you have read and understood the following policies, and agree to fully abide by them.

- Student teaching placements are selected by music education faculty and requested of the CEHE by the music education Program Manager only.
- You must be compliant with EHE requirements when you apply, and remain compliant through the end of your placement.
- Prior to the beginning of the student teaching placement, student teachers must have passed both OAE exams, and completed the “Module I” course through Carmen.
- Student teachers are expected to know and follow the policies in the student teaching handbooks from the School of Music and the College of Education and Human Ecology.
- Student teachers are expected to follow the teaching schedule of the mentor teacher or teachers, including all music-related co-curricular or extra-curricular commitments and commitments that occur on weekends. Student teachers follow the placement, not OSU, for school breaks, snow days, etc.
- If a student misses three or more days for any reason or combination of reasons, they must make the extra days up at the end of the placement, except in rare cases approved by the music education Area Head.
- Student teachers are encouraged to take advantage of professional development opportunities during the student teaching semester. Absences for reasons such as conference attendance, auditions, or interviews, must be approved by the music education Area Head. Requests should be communicated well in advance.
- Student teachers shall not be involved in other performances, ensembles, recitals, or University classes while student teaching. Unless there is an extraordinary reason, requests for absences due to outside performances or gigs, OSU student organizations, fraternities and sororities, ensembles, recitals, or classes will not be approved.
